

Jenny Waters is Executive Director of the National Association of Women Lawyers, a 115 year old organization dedicated to supporting, educating, and advancing women lawyers in all types of practices and advocating for their advancement in the profession. Ms. Waters manages the strategic direction and operations of the organization. Ms. Waters also serves as a Delegate to the American Bar Association House of Delegates for the 2016-2017 term and served as an advisor to an award-winning team in the inaugural DiversityLab Women in Law Hackathon. Ms. Waters serves on the Board of the Coalition of Women’s Initiatives in Law after previously serving on its Executive Committee and as chair of numerous committees.

Before joining NAWL as its Executive Director, Ms. Waters Co-Chaired its Pipeline to Equity Partnership program planning committee. At the time, she was a partner at a Chambers-ranked commercial litigation boutique in Chicago. For over a decade, Ms. Waters litigated commercial matters on behalf of multi-national Fortune 500 companies, closely held corporations, and executives operating in a broad spectrum of industries.

Ms. Waters received the 2014 Leadership Award from the Coalition of Women’s Initiatives in Law. She was also named a Super Lawyers’ Rising Star from 2008-2014. Ms. Waters received her J.D. from Northwestern University School of Law and her A.B. from Princeton University.